

I am deeply concerned about Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election.

My view is that as a user of the public airways free of charge, they should be serving the public interest. To present only one side of an issue this close to a national election is fundamentally dangerous to our form of government. I expect the FCC to protect America from this destructive abuse of power. If companies are not committed to responsible use of the public airwaves, then the FCC should exercise its considerable power and withdraw licensing.
